RULING

The Court has read and carefully considered Defendant Bruce's Motion for Leave to File Cross Motion for Summary Judgment. Defendant Bruce had notice since at least March of 2016 that dispositive motions were initially to be filed by July 2016. The parties mutually agreed to extend that deadline to October 2016 given the extensive, complicated litigation that has been ongoing for a period of years in this case. The Court has three days already set for oral arguments on almost two dozen motions for summary judgment, which is an extraordinary number for this sort of a case. In order to effectively manage this case, the Court must insist that the parties timely file their motions.

IT IS ORDERED denying the Motion for Leave to File Cross Motion for Summary Judgment.
